Our friendly, knowledgeable sales staff is committed to making your motorcycle purchasing experience the best it can be. Our talented mechanics and experienced staff will help you find the bike that is the best match for your needs, budget and lifestyle.. Buzz Aldrin and the astronauts of Apollo XI, and so on and so forth. Al and I have been the friends for a lot of years, and I am happy to have him involved. I was supposed to appear in one interview, but that person got sick and somebody else wanted to do it, so I was removed from the list of talking heads. I think they'll feature people like Bonnie Raitt, John Mellencamp, and somebody else. The one-dollar DVD is different than most other releases. Someone has to pay for all the design and print work, and the shipping costs. I don't really get why they don't just do it as a book or CD, or bring back a boxed set for DVD. I haven't seen the movie, but I've heard it's pretty good. I've seen a couple of rushes. When the Alamo was being filmed, it was May through July, and the last day was a Thursday. I happened to see him being punched in the face, the next day, and I just thought it was so funny. It was the best scene I'd ever seen in a movie. They recreated it in a sound stage and hung four or five fake Mescaleros around the set. There was this fantastic mud fight between Al and the rest of the actors, and so after I saw that one day, I called Al and said, "I saw what you did the next day." He said, "What do you mean?" I said, "You were wrestling in the mud, and you were dripping wet, and you were all covered in slime, and I saw you being punched in the face and blood pouring out of your nose! It was just incredible." He laughed and said, "That was real." I said, "What do you mean?" He said, "That was my biggest fight in the movie." I told him it was the best scene I'd ever seen in a movie. I've been invited to four film festivals this year, and I am very excited about them all
