Friday, October 19, 2014 -The Edge and the morning crew (Mark and Mark) are having a nice chat between songs about the best CDs they each own, and they react to a few things they've heard on the air. Mark also talks about station news. It's a couple of minutes long, you'll hear everything before you have to pick up the phone. Saturday, November 9, 2014 -Recorded before the election results, David talks about why he thinks the republican candidates were more successful than the democrats in their races. The guys also discuss the national and international news with a few important topics coming up on the air. A few minutes long. Monday, December 21, 2014 -On this new years eve, Mark and Al talk about the year 2014 and what it holds for us all. They also talk about some of the things that they will be doing. On the air, they highlight the airstudio.com contest for the best live show. This is a ten minute long clip. Monday, February 16, 2015 -On this show, we talk about the new tax law and the new minimum wage. We also talk about the Mayor of Edina, and a couple of other events going on. We finish the show with a song about the new law. Saturday, March 14, 2015 -The guys talk about a variety of topics like hockey, the weather, and the rain. Al talks about one of the recent events that happened in his area, and Mark talks about something that he purchased last year. Friday, May 2, 2015 -Al talks about a news story that he has been reading, and David talks about a story that the guys have been hearing

Trade Unionism in India and pertaining labour laws in the country.Â .Irrigation heads (also referred to as sprinklers, water sprinklers, etc.) are widely used in agriculture, landscaping, and lawn care for sprinkling water or other fluids on a grass lawn, garden, shrubbery, trees, flowers, ground surfaces, etc. Generally, irrigation heads are designed to spray fluids uniformly across the area to be irrigated. However, this goal is difficult to achieve due to various factors such as the angle of the spray, the flow rate of the fluid, the terrain of the area to be irrigated, the distance between the fluid source and the area to be irrigated, and/or other factors. As such, the resulting spray pattern is not uniform and instead varies with many factors. In areas where it is important for the lawn and/or ground area to be uniform and/or smooth, and/or where the area to be irrigated includes a large amount of curved or otherwise irregular terrain, watering using a conventional irrigation head is inadequate. It is with these observations in mind, among others, that various aspects of the present disclosure were conceived and developed.963 F.2d 377 Johnv.U.S. NO. 91-2894 United States Court of Appeals,Eleventh Circuit.
