Wednesday, February 8, 2013 If we are on a boat, a boat that was built or will be built by stevedores, by shipbuilders, by shipwrights, by people who live by water. -- Tom Waits Clad in a heavy rain coat and giant yellow slickers, armed with umbrellas and boots, we waddle through the foul-smelling mud to Dockside Brewing Company, Inc. The brewery is located on a rugged stretch of road that is a dead end on both ends. The road is lined with huge green garbage trucks that dump their contents at the rear end of the industrial buildings, which at night form a largely unlit staging area for the storage of garbage. Dockside Brewing Company is one of three breweries in the city. It is located on what is known locally as "Charlie's Docks." This is the place that we believe is the closest to heaven on earth—aside from it being the place where God walked in actual person, right here on the land that was originally
